THE PLAV,USA FUNERAL RITUAL

At the request of the family of a deceased veteran, a PLAV,USA Post may participate in the funeral service provided: (a) the Post Commander so orders the Post or (b) on majority vote of the Post membership. As a guide for the Post the following policies are suggested:

1) Death of a deceased member:

The Post at the request of the deceased member' family is obligated to provide a military funeral

2) Death of an honorably discharged veteran who is not a member of the PLAV,USA or death of a man/woman who is on active duty with the Armed Forces of the United States. At the request of the deceased veteran's family, the Post at its discretion may authorize a Military Funeral.

Except as provided above, Post members will attend services as individuals, taking no active part in the ceremonies.

Services may be varied in accordance with the religious belief of the deceased comrade. The wish of the family of the deceased, and of the officiating clergy will be respected.

Sec. A. The Post Commander and his/her staff must use their own judgement to make the PLAV,USA Services conform to the local circumstances. Changes in the following instructions may have to be made, but most important, is that the service must run smoothly and efficiently. To avoid delay or confusion, everyone should be rehearsed. It is imperative that each member participating in the Funeral Service clearly understands the functions he/she is to perform.

The Post Commander shall make all preliminary arrangements with the family or its representatives, regarding the part the PLAV,USA is to take in the ceremonies.

When the PLAV,USA is requested to use its ritual at funerals, the regulations prescribed by the Federal Government will be used. The full complement of participants shall include:

- I Chaplain
- I Bugler (Echo optional)
- 2 Color Bearers
- 2 Color Guards
- I Commander of Firing Squad
- 6 Firing Squad
- 6 Pallbearers

The burial Flag will be provided by the Government for burial ceremonies for all veterans.

Burial Flags will be provided by the local Postmaster or the Department of Veterans Affairs.

Following are some funeral service details to remember:

- 1) Military funeral regulations do not take the firing squad into the Chapel.
- 2) All Military or PLAV,USA details, shall, in church, have heads bared, except while actually functioning. Members of color detail and firing squad, functioning, do not remove caps. Uniformed pallbearers remain covered while carrying casket.
- 3) The Flag of the United States should never be dipped or lowered. Only Post Colors should be dipped while casket is passing, the firing squad is functioning and during sounding of taps. When Post Colors are dipped the firing squad and Color Guard come to present arms.
- 4) Federal Government regulations provide that the Flag of the United States will cover the casket during military funeral services held in a church or chapel. Comrades making arrangements should determine whether or not this is acceptable to the clergyman or minister. In the event the deceased served under an allied Flag, that Flag shall also be displayed on the coffin.
- 5) When the Flag of the United States covers the coffin, the field is at the head and over the left shoulder of the deceased.
- 6) The casket shall be carried feet first.
- 7) The Flag must not be lowered into the grave nor allowed to touch the ground.

- 8) There are three types of military services:
1. Chapel service followed by escort to grave.
 2. Without chapel service but with the funeral procession forming at or near the cemetery entrance.
 3. Grave service only.

"Chapel" means the home, church, funeral parlor and places other than the grave. Honorary pallbearers, may be the PLAV,USA members or others selected by family.

AT THE ARRIVAL OF REMAINS AT THE FUNERAL HOME OR CHAPEL

The Post Commander or the Post Sergeant -at-Arms will immediately have the Colors of the Post with a black ribbon posted at the foot of the casket and the Flag of our Country at the head of the casket.

THE NIGHT BEFORE THE FUNERAL

The Post Commander shall delegate the members of the Post for Honor Guard. The Honor Guard, in uniform and armed, stands at the position of "Parade Rest." One guard at the head of the casket and the other at the foot of the casket facing each other. All Post members should attend to pay their last respects.

THE DAY OF THE FUNERAL

The Post Commander will have the funeral escort assemble at the funeral chapel or a convenient place near the chapel in ample time before the services and detail the Honor Guard. The Honor Guard will be posted until the services end.

At the close of the clergies service, the Commander will assemble the detail to pay last respects to the departed member. The detail will march up to the casket single file and salute the departed veteran. The detail under arms will "Present Arms." All march out.

THE DUTIES OF PARTICIPATING PERSONNEL

CHAPLAIN:

When the pallbearers have removed the casket from the hearse, he/she leads the pallbearers and the casket into the church.

He/she then conducts the service. When the church service is completed, he/she precedes the casket out of the church.

Upon arrival of the procession at the burial plot, he/she waits until the escort and colors have taken their positions at the gravesite. After the pallbearers have lifted the casket from the hearse, he/she precedes the casket to the grave site. He/she then takes his/her position at the head of the grave and when everyone is in position, he/she conducts the committal service.

After the funeral service is completed, he/she remains behind to render any assistance required by the family.

ESCORT AND FIRING SQUAD:

The escort assembles in front of the church prior to the arrival of the casket and stands at ease until the hearse appears. It forms facing the church on line with the Colors and band. The Post Commander shall be in charge of the escort.

When the hearse appears, the escort is brought to attention. When all is in readiness for the pallbearers to remove the casket from the hearse, the escort is brought to the position of present arms.

When the casket is brought out from the church at the end of the church service, the escort is called to attention and then brought to the position of present arms. The escort remains in this position while the casket is being secured to the hearse.

At the graveside, the escort takes its position in line behind and facing the head of the grave. The firing squad is formed in one rank, apart from the escort so that it will not fire over the heads of the family when they take their place beside the grave. The firing squad will execute all commands with the escort, except when specifically indicated otherwise.

At the moment that the pallbearers lift the casket from the hearse, the escort is brought to the position of present arms. They remain in this position until the casket is placed over the grave.

When the casket is placed over the grave, the escort is called to order and brought to the position of parade rest; all members of the escort stand in this position with bowed heads until the chaplain completes the committal service.

When the chaplain has finished the service, the escort is then called to attention.

Members of the escort are then given the command:

- 1) "Escort" (less firing squad)
- 2) "Present"
- 3) "Arms"

At the command "Arms," the escort, honorary pallbearers, bugler and privates of the color guard come to the position of present arms.

The firing squad commander then commands:

- 1) "Firing Squad"
- 2) "Prepare to Load"
- 3) "Load"

At the command "Load," each member of the firing squad faces half right and carries his right foot 12 inches to the right, and to such position as will secure the greatest firmness and steadiness of the body. He/she raises the rifle, and drops it into the left hand at the balance, right hand at the small of the stock, muzzle in the air at an angle of 45 degrees. He/she then loads his/her rifle in the manner prescribed in the manual for that weapon.

IMPORTANT NOTE:

If the rifle jams, do not attempt to fix, but simulate firing.

The firing squad commander then gives the command:

- 1) "Ready"
- 2) "Aim"
- 3) "Fire"

At the command "Ready," each member of the firing squad remains in the position of load. At the command "Aim," each member of the firing squad raises his/her rifle with both hands to a position of 45 degrees from the horizontal, the rifle resting in the palm of the hand, the butt placed and held firmly against the shoulder. The left hand is well under the rifle, grasping it at, or in front of the balance, the right hand grasping the small of the stock. The right elbow is at the height of the shoulder. The right cheek is pressed firmly against the stock as far forward as it can be without straining. The left eye is closed, the right eye looking over the rear sight. The rifle is then unlocked.

At the command "Fire," each member of the firing squad squeezes the trigger of the rifle quickly. The rifle is then lowered to the position of load and reloaded. The escort Commander then commands:

- 1) "Aim"
- 2) "Fire"

After the second volley is fired, the escort commander again gives the command:

- 1) "Aim"
- 2) "Fire"

And the third volley is fired.

After the third volley is fired the firing squad shall be brought to present arms and shall so remain in this position until the conclusion of the sounding of taps. The escort commander executes the hand salute while taps is sounded.

After the last note of taps has been played the escort is brought to order arms. At the same command the firing squad comes to the order from the position of ready. The firing squad then rejoins the escort and the escort moves off.

At the first halt, the rifles of the firing squad are unloaded and inspected.

COLOR GUARD:

The color guard arrives at the church and takes its position prior to the arrival of the hearse.

When the hearse appears, the color guard is brought to attention, and the members of the color guard come to the position of present arms with the escort.

When the casket is carried into the church, the members of the color guard come to the order and the color guard is permitted to stand at ease.

When the casket is brought out from the church at the end of the church service, the color guard comes to the position of attention with the escort. The members of the color guard then come to the position of present arms with the escort and remain in this position until the casket is secured to the hearse.

At the graveside, the color guard takes its position in line behind and facing the head of the grave.

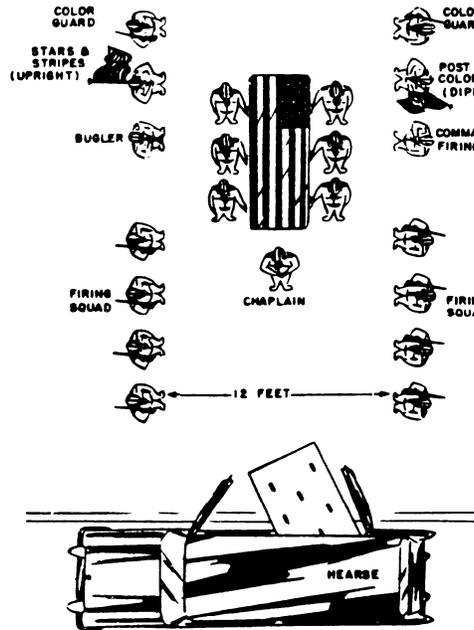

At the moment that the pallbearers lift the casket from the hearse, the members of the color guard come to the position of present arms with the escort. They remain in this position until the casket is placed over the grave.

When the casket is placed over the grave the members of the color guard come to the order with the escort. The color guard then comes to the position of parade rest with the escort, and stands with bowed heads until the chaplain completes the committal service.

When the committal service is completed, the color guard comes to the position of attention with the escort. The members of the color guard then execute present arms with the escort, and hold that position until the escort is brought to the order, when they also come to the order.

The color guard then moves off as the procession leaves the cemetery in quick time.

DIAGRAM A

PALLBEARERS:

Pallbearers will usually assemble at the funeral chapel or parlor. They will follow the funeral detail into the funeral chapel to pay last respects to the deceased.

After paying respects, the pallbearers will step aside to be in position to carry the casket to the hearse.

They will place the casket in the hearse.

At the church when the escort is brought to the position of attention, they lift the casket from the hearse and, following the chaplain, carry the casket feet first into the chapel, passing through the aisle formed by the two facing ranks of honorary pallbearers.

If, after entering the church, a church truck is available, the casket may be placed on the truck and only two pallbearers will be required to guide the casket to the front of the church. Otherwise, all pallbearers carry the casket feet first to the front of the church, and then take their places in the pews behind those occupied by the honorary pallbearers at the left front of the church.

When the church service is over, the pallbearers lift the casket and carry it out of the church feet first. The pallbearers then secure the casket to the hearse.

When the procession reaches the entrance of the burial lot, and when the colors and escort have taken their positions at the gravesite, the pallbearers lift the casket from the hearse and carry it to the grave site.

At the gravesite, the pallbearers rest the casket on the lowering device and remove the interment Flag from the casket, holding it over the grave waist high.

The Flag is held tightly so that it does not sag over the casket during the service.

At the conclusion of Taps, the pallbearers fold the Flag and present it to the Commander. They then fall in behind the escort and march off.

HONORARY PALLBEARERS:

The honorary pallbearers assemble at the church before the hearse arrives. They take positions in front of the entrance to the church in two facing ranks.

Upon arrival of the hearse and when the pallbearers remove the casket from the hearse, honorary pallbearers execute the hand salute, if uniformed.

When the casket is carried between the ranks that they have formed, they come to the order, execute the appropriate facing movement, fall in behind the casket and enter the church.

In the church they take places in the front pews to the left of the church.

When the church service is over, honorary pallbearers assemble at door of church and then take positions outside of the church in two facing ranks, forming an aisle through which the casket is carried by the pallbearers, preceded by the chaplain. As the casket is carried past them, they execute the hand salute, They remain in this position until the casket is loaded on the hearse, when they come to the order.

When the entrance to the burial plot is reached, the honorary pallbearers take positions on either side of the entrance. As the pallbearers lift the casket from the hearse, the honorary pallbearers execute the hand salute, if uniformed.

When the casket has been carried past them, they come to the order and fall in behind the casket, marching to the gravesite.

At the gravesite, they stand in line behind the chaplain at the head of the grave. They execute the hand salute during the firing of volleys, the sounding of Taps and the lowering of the casket into the grave.

After the ceremony is over, they march off in two files behind the Colors.

FAMILY:

The family shall be seated in pews in right front of the church.

When church service is over, the family members follow the casket down the aisle until they reach the vestibule of the church where they wait until the casket is carried and secured to the hearse.

When the procession arrives at the graveside, the members of the family wait until the escort and colors have taken their positions at the grave, and the casket is carried between the double row of honorary pallbearers.

The members of the family take their positions at the side of the grave opposite earth mound side for the funeral service.

OFFICER IN CHARGE OF FUNERAL: (PRESENTATION OF FLAG)

"On behalf of the Government of the United States, through the Polish Legion of American Veterans, USA _____, Post No. _____, I present you with this Flag of the United States, under which your _____ (relationship) has served under so faithfully."

The family then leaves the cemetery.

FUNERAL SERVICE AT CHAPEL OR HOME:

Music (If desired)

Invocation (if desired)

Post Commander's remarks maybe elaborated. (If desired)

POST COMMANDER:

"Another comrade has been called to the High Command; he/she has gone to report to the Commander of all."

Either of the following prayers may be used, or the Chaplain may deliver one of his/her own of the same length and general tenor.

CHAPLAIN:

"Let us pray."

Eternal God, heavenly Father, to whom all must report and give accountability, we bow before you with faith and reverence knowing you are God of the living and dead. Once again you have summoned one of our Comrades to yourself where beauty, goodness and peace dwell forever. Mindful of the service well done, you call him/her to everlasting rest. Above all, may we appreciate the privileges of freedom and peace for which he./she lived and died. Finally, inspire us by his/her example and so live that we may be worthy of his/her sacrifice. Amen.

Music (If desired)

Short eulogy of departed comrade (If desired)

POST COMMANDER:

"This moment is sacred with the almost visible presence of the one who has gone before. We come to honor the memory of one who offered his/her life in the service of his/her Country, who has now enrolled in that great spirit army whose footfalls cause no sound. But in the memory of man, their souls go marching on, sustained by the pride of service, in time of National danger. Because of them our lives are free; because of them, our Nation lives; because of them the world is blessed. May the ceremonies of today deepen our reverence for our dead."

"Let us not enshroud their memory with thoughts of sorrow. Tears or words of sympathy cannot bring back the comfort of those loving hands or the music of voices stilled. Only the solemn pride in his/her service, is theirs, who live to remember."

"Comrades and friends, let us here pledge ourselves anew to united service, to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by a devotion to mutual helpfulness in the protection of those left behind. All who are present, will you not join with us, for the accomplishment of this ideal depends upon the support of every Service member, of their friends and of the community in which they reside."

"To you who are left behind, we realize how futile are mere words to express our deep and abiding sympathy in your loss. May you feel that he/she is at rest, and in endless peace. Generation after generation, all the shadowy peoples of the past have lived as we live, perplexed and mystified by death; have gone into the Great Beyond with hearts filled with wistful longing, as all must go."

"Is there anything beyond the darkness into which generation follows generation and race follows race?"

"Surely there is an after life for all, who have been loyal and true, a life to which light and peace shall come, where the burden shall be lifted and the heartache shall cease, where the love, the hope and the fulfillment that escapes us here shall be given to us, to be ours forever."

When there is a service at the home, the Post Commander may at this point place a poppy within or upon the coffin and say the words: "Farewell, my Comrade. " Where the PLAV,USA service is at the grave only, after the flag is removed from the coffin, the Post Commander may place a poppy upon the coffin and say the words: "Farewell, my Comrade."

HOW TO DISPLAY THE FLAG

Respect your Flag and render it the courtesies to which it is entitled by observing the following rules:

The National Flag shall be raised and lowered by hand. It shall be displayed only from sunrise to sunset, or between such hours as may be designated by proper authority. Do not raise the Flag while it is furled. Unfurl, then hoist quickly to the top of the staff. Lower it slowly and with dignity.

1) When displayed over the middle of the street, the Flag shall be suspended vertically with the union to the north in an east and west street, or the east in a north and south street.

2) When displayed with another Flag from crossed staffs, the Flag of the United States of America shall be on the right (the Flag's own right and its staff shall be in front of the other Flag).

3) When it is to be flown at half-mast, the Flag shall be hoisted to the peak for an instant and then lowered to the half-mast position, but before lowering the flag for the day it should again be raised to the peak. By half-mast is meant hauling down the flag to one-half the distance between the top and the bottom of the staff. On Memorial Day display at half-mast until noon only; then hoist to top of staff.

4) When the Flags of states and cities or pennants of societies are flown on the same halyard with the Flag of the United States of America, the latter shall always be at the peak. When flown from adjacent staffs, the Stars and Stripes shall be hoisted first and lowered last.

5) When the Flag is suspended over a sidewalk from a rope, extending from house to pole at the edge of the sidewalk, the Flag shall be hoisted out from the building, toward the pole, union first.

6) When the Flag is displayed from a staff projecting horizontally or at any angle from the window sill, balcony, or front of a building, the union of the Flag should clear to peak of the staff (unless the Flag is to be displayed at half-mast.)

7) When the Flag is used to cover a casket, it shall be so placed that the union is at the head and over the left shoulder. The Flag shall not be lowered into the grave or allowed to touch the ground.

8) When the Flag is displayed in a manner other than by being flown from a staff, it shall be displayed flat, whether indoors or out. When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the union should be uppermost and to the Flag's own right, that is, to the observer's left. When displayed in a window it should be displayed in the same way, that is, with the union or blue field to the left of the observed in the street. When festoons, rosettes or drapings are desired, bunting of blue, white and red should be used, but never the Flag.

9) When carried in a procession with another Flag or Flags, the Stars and Stripes shall be either on the marching right, or when there is a line of other Flags, our National Flag may be in front of the center of that line.

10) When a number of Flags of states or cities or pennants of societies are grouped and displayed from staffs with our National Flag, the latter shall be at the center or at the highest point of the group.

11) When the Flags of two or more nations are displayed they shall be flown from separate staffs of the same height and the Flags should be approximately equal size. International usage forbids the display of the Flag of one nation above that of another nation in time of peace.

When the Flag is used in unveiling a statue or monument, it shall not be used as a covering of the object to be unveiled. If it is displayed on such occasions, do not allow the Flag to fall to the ground, but let it be carried aloft to form a feature of the ceremony.

When the National Flag is worn out, dispose of it with due reverence. According to an approved custom, the Union is first cut from the flag; and then the two pieces which no longer form a Flag, are cremated.

All PLAV,USA members are encouraged to fly the National Flag every day of the year, giving appropriate consideration to weather conditions. Proper lighting must be used when the National Flag is flown at night.

SALUTE TO THE FLAG

During the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the Flag, or when the Flag is passing in a parade or in review, those present in uniform should render the right hand salute. Veterans and members of the U. S. Armed Forces are given the authority, whether or not, they are in uniform or wearing identifying veterans apparel such as a PLAV,USA cap to render a right hand salute. Men that are non-veterans should remove their headdress with their right hand and hold it at the left shoulder, the hand being over the heart and women should salute by placing the right hand over the heart.

SALUTE THE NATIONAL ANTHEM

At the 36th Biennial National Convention (2002) the following conduct during the playing of the National Anthem was unanimously approved by the delegates present.

During rendition of the National Anthem when the Flag is displayed, veterans and members of the U. S. Armed Forces are given the authority, whether or not, they are in uniform or wearing identifying veterans apparel such as a PLAV,USA Cap to remain silent, stand at attention and render the military salute and retain that position until the last note. When the Flag is not displayed, those persons should face the music and act in the same manner they would if the Flag were displayed there. Men that are non-veterans should remove their headdress with the right hand and hold it at their left shoulder, the right hand being over the heart and women should salute by placing the right hand over the heart.

The “Star - Spangled Banner” the National Anthem of the United States of America, was made such by Act of Congress, March 3, 1931.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE TO THE FLAG: MANNER OF DELIVERY

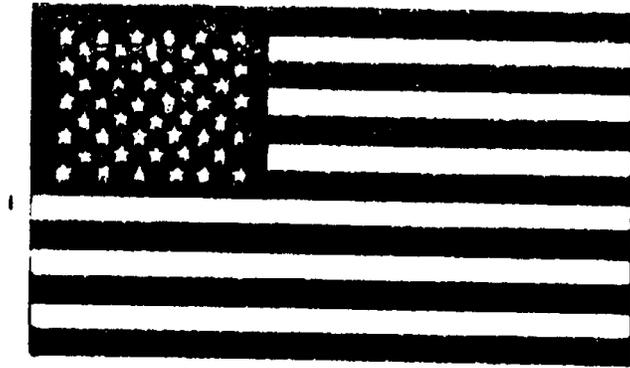

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

It should be rendered by standing at attention facing the Flag with the right hand over the heart. When not in uniform, men should remove their headdress with their right hand and hold it at the right shoulder, the hand being over the heart and women should salute by placing the right hand over the heart. Veterans and members of the U. S. Armed Forces are given the authority, whether or not, they are in uniform or wearing identifying veterans apparel such as a PLAV,USA Cap to remain silent, face the Flag and render the hand salute.

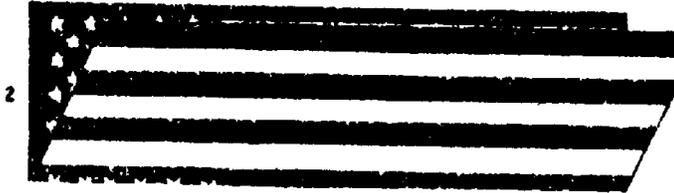

CORRECT METHOD OF FOLDING UNITED STATES FLAG

- 1) During the military funeral ceremony the Flag is folded immediately after the sounding of Taps.
- 2) The Pallbearers, who are holding the Flag waist high over the grave, fold the lower striped section of the flag over the blue field.
- 3) A triangular fold is then started by bringing the striped corner of the folded edge to the open edge.
- 4) The outer point is then turned inward parallel with the open edge to form a second triangle.
- 5) The triangular folding is continued until the entire length of the Flag is folded in this manner.
- 6) When the Flag is completely folded, only the blue field should be visible and it should be folded in the triangular shape of a cocked hat.
